

AGREEMENT ON RAIL-ROAD LEGISLATION IS NOW NEAR

Predicted All Anti-Strike and Other Sections Dealing With Labor Will Be Eliminated

Congress Overwhelmingly Favors the Immediate Return of the Roads to Owners

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 30.—A final agreement by senate and house conference on railroad legislation is near, it was learned today.

It is now believed to be virtually certain that railroad bills will be passed early next month so that there will be no hitch in the president's announced plans to return the lines to their owners March 1.

The overwhelming majority of congress still favors the return of the roads to their owners as soon as possible despite the efforts of labor and other organizations to extend government control two years in hopes that the Plumb plan can then be put into effect.

Republican leaders are determined to push railroad bills through as soon as possible and to do this, some feature of it may be left for later legislation.

Anti-strike legislation probably will not be in the conference reports. Senate leaders by recent canvass found that legislators of the house are still opposed to this action. The plan for dealing with labor included in the house bill, which was written by the railroad brotherhoods and which probably will be slightly modified will be accepted, but it is possible that all the labor propositions will be eliminated.

The difficulty now between conferees is compensation for the railroads, section six of the Cummins bill which provides that returns shall be adjusted so that railroads shall be assured of a fixed rate of 5 1/2 per cent on their aggregate property value with a proposition that the government may divide all profits above this percentage for the benefit of weaker roads, is favored.

BIPARTISAN TREATY COMPROMISE ENDS

(Bulletin)
(By United Press)

The bipartisan treaty conferees today definitely broke off all negotiations for treaty compromise.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The seriousness of the world situation both economically and politically, has commanded much attention in connection with the senate treaty fight today. Leaders on both sides have been keeping close watch on dispatches from Europe, Asia and Africa. The reason is that both sides in the fight over compromise ratification apparently hope to turn to their own advantage the plight in which much of the world finds itself. Threats of a bolshevik conflagration, civil disturbances in many new states of middle Europe and economic turmoil all over the world resulting from the constant dropping of exchange rates are the feature of the situation which senate leaders on both sides of the treaty debate believe they can turn to their account.

Much discussion has been caused in senate cloak rooms by cable dispatches on these points. Out of this discussion senators said they have considerable argument for debate if the treaty comes to the floor of the senate if the bipartisan conferees fail. The bipartisan conferees on the treaty were scheduled to meet today but the meeting was again deferred because of the illness of Senator Lenroot's daughter. Meanwhile Hitchcock and Underwood are holding off their plan to call up the treaty on the floor of the senate to move for creation of conciliatory committee.

At Bipartisan Conference Today Article X Taboo

Washington, Jan. 30.—Indefinite continuation of the bipartisan treaty compromise discussion was forecast today when it was announced that the conferees would not discuss Article X at today's session, nor until Senator Hitchcock returns from a week-end trip to Nebraska. Hitchcock left today. The decision to take up other unsettled questions, believed to indicate that the conferees on both sides are going to take all possible steps to make their compromise efforts effective and prevent the treaty being brought into the senate.

MINNESOTA PREPARES TO SPEND 35 MILLIONS ON ROAD PROJECT

1920 Highway Building Work Will More Than Double That Done in State in Any Previous Year

Minnesota is about to spend $35,000,000 on the biggest road building project it has ever undertaken.

Orders launching a construction and improvement program that exceeds by $20,000,000 the work done in the state in any previous year are going out today from the offices of the highway commissioner for Minnesota. The road project to be carried out this year, involving more than 2,200 miles of arterial highways, is part of a $50,000,000 undertaking begun last year, but which is to reach its greatest extent next summer.

This statewide project includes construction of 400 bridges and 10,000 culverts in 1920; graveling of 1,530 miles of roads, grading of 1,805 miles and hard surfacing of 189 miles; and maintenance, for the first time in the state's history, of 6,000 miles of arterial highway by a corps of paid patrols, operating with single workmen, gangs, teams, trucks and even tractors. Hard surfacing of 58 miles for which contracts were let last year, but which could not be undertaken because of lack of men and material, now forms part of the 1920 program, bringing paving projects up to 246 miles.

The work to be completed this year is the beginning of a series of undertakings which are designed to give the state, by the end of 1921, approximately 600 miles of hard surfaced roads. Work scheduled in 23 Minnesota counties includes building 553 miles of paved highways.

Refiners Made a Profit of Only 2 1-4 Cents a Pound on Sugar Imported From Cuba

RALPH COUCH,
(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Jan. 30.—Evidence that jobbers, wholesale and retail dealers are dividing a profit of more than one hundred per cent on sugar at 20c a pound was found today by reports to the United States department of commerce.

The reports showed that in December 8 1/4c per pound was the price at which American refiners sold sugar for exportation from the United States.

During the same month the price at which retail dealers in fifty cities averaged 14 1/4c per pound, showing that after the sugar left the refiners 6 1/4c was added to each pound sold. The average price quoted was filed by the labor department bureau of statistics from reports of hundreds of price representatives. In many cities the retail price was found far more than 14 1/4c. In Atlanta, Ga., 24 1/4c, was charged and approximately the same price prevailed in Little Rock, Memphis and Birmingham. In some parts however the retail price was below the average. Refiners make a profit of only about 2 1/4c per pound on sugar imported from Cuba, refined, and then sold for export at 8 1/4c.

Hungarian Royalists

Budapest, Jan. 30.—The Hungarian Royalists today unanimously passed a resolution urging immediate change of head of state, proposing the Archduke Joseph for the governorship.

British Chancellors.

The British chancellor of the exchequer and the old high chancellor are two separate persons, and their positions are very different. The chancellor of the exchequer holds a position in the British cabinet similar to that of the minister of finance in the federal cabinet of Canada. The position of the lord high chancellor is primarily a judicial one. He is at the head of the equity branch of the law and in that capacity is the highest judge in England. He also presides over the sittings of the house of lords.

HOB NOB CLUB LEAP YEAR DANCE

Formal Valentine Party to be Given at 8:45 o'clock Monday Evening, February 2

CITIZENS STATE BANK HALL

Hall to be Appropriately Decorated by Committee with Hearts and Other Love Tokens

A formal Leap Year Valentine party will be given Monday evening, February 2, at the Citizens State bank hall by the Hob Nob club. Dancing will commence at 8:45 o'clock.

The committee will have the hall aglow with appropriate decorations of hearts, flowers, etc.

Tending to show the interest manifested by some of the girls, it may be mentioned that numerous reservations for luncheon have been made at the Ideal Hotel as well as the West Cafe. Many men are patiently waiting for some girl to ask them to the dance.

The dance will reveal a wealth of pretty party gowns and as a foil more dress suits than a Fifth Avenue wedding.

Munger-Arnold

A very pretty yet simple wedding was solemnized at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Munger on Thursday morning, January 8, when their daughter, Vera Frances, was united in marriage to Alvin A. Arnold of Brainerd, Minn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bernard N. Lovgren, assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal church at St. Paul. The couple was unattended. The Episcopal ring service was used.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a dress of dark wistaria georgette and satin. The traveling suit was of black satin.

After the ceremony, which was attended only by the immediate relatives, a wedding dinner was served.

The couple left on the afternoon train for a short trip after which they will be at home at Brainerd, where the groom is engaged in the mercantile business.

The bride is a young lady of many accomplishments. She is a graduate of both the local high school and the River Falls normal school. For a few years past she has been teaching.

The Record joins with her many friends in extending many wishes for a happy future.

Those from a distance who attended the wedding were Mrs. E. O. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Will Arnold, all of Minneapolis; Ellsworth, Wisconsin Record.

A New Shade.

Sulphur yellow is the new shade, and this soft yellow bids fair to take the place of the crude burnt orange and gamboge tones that were so fashionable last summer. Sulphur yellow is especially pleasing with brown shades, and linen frocks in sulphur yellow are promised for Palm Beach. There are three fashionable grays—oyster gray, mouse gray and pearl gray—according to whether you can wear a pale gray, or a deeper gray best. Germanium pink, a vivid hue, is a competitor of tomato red, and both are charming shades for evening wear.

A Velvet and Plush Season.

Both plush and velvet are used for afternoon dresses, and velvet is the material chosen by many of the designers for evening gowns and dinner dresses. Wool daytime dresses come as near as possible to the soft texture of velvet. Duvetyn in decided colors is quite generally used for every sort of dress other than those for afternoon receptions and when something more elaborate than wool materials is demanded.

SLEEVED OR SLEEVELESS ARM

Question That Bothers Many Girls and Women—How to Keep the Arms Beautiful.

Sleeveless arms must be pretty, or they must be "sleeved." Now it is not really hard to have nice arms, and it is a beauty that lasts until years are many. Take trouble and you can do much with very ordinary arms.

If your arms are too thin, why not try housemaid work? It will help greatly to make them firm and taut. Every day a loofah or flesh-brush must be used to rub the arms well; the elbows especially need attention. Never sit with the elbows on the table, or they are sure to be bony and rough and red. Foreign girls are strictly forbidden to misuse their elbows so when children. A slice of lemon ought to be rubbed in daily. It will give a firm, satiny texture to the skin, and will bleach it considerably.

Don't coat your arms with powder at a dance if sleeveless, as your partner will detect his coat bearing evidence of the fact. Rather take care all the time of the skin, and keep it in good form.

If your arms are merely passably nice, don't draw attention to them by velvet bands or bracelets.

If, in spite of all your efforts, they remain thin and of an ugly color, then wear sleeves, and, if not sleeves, the very long gloves. But at present the latter are an impossible price. So sleeves it will have to be.

FEELS LIKE A REAL FELLOW

"After nine years of stomach suffering, colic attacks and bloating, I feel like a living person again. Four doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy have entirely restored me. I have met a great many people who, I am sure, need this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Mrs. Julius Fleischman

Two days after his wife divorced him Julius Fleischman, Cincinnati's former multi-millionaire mayor, married Mrs. Laura Hemingway, formerly the wife of Louis Hemingway, silk merchant of New York and Philadelphia. The Hemingways were divorced eight months. Mrs. Hemingway had been living in New York and a Brooklyn clergyman, it was announced, was to perform the ceremony. Several hours before the time set, he changed his mind and it was necessary to find another minister.

SHAVING ITS OWN BONDS

The St. Cloud Journal Press is not alone in its opinion of the action of this administration in buying in its own bonds at a discount, shaving its own most solemn financial obligation. "What would you think," it asks, "of a bank that would take your money, issue you a certificate of deposit, later buy in this certificate at about 10 per cent discount, and then boast about it? After you had expressed your opinion, you would probably report the facts to the bank examiner."

In the earlier days of the bond issues, the publicity workers were encouraged to tell the people that they would never fall below par. But the newspapers refused to repeat so patent a falsehood and made the appeal straight to patriotism.

Everyone who then bought knew he was donating to the government and taking a chance of ever getting all his money back. Tens of thousands borrowed at a higher rate of interest, to loan the country. Thousands bought these bonds instead of paying debts carrying a larger interest. All were glad to do this. They were at home and money did not count as against the service of those who were "over there."

But very many have had to sell since then, for what they could get, these bonds of the government. So long as the shaving in prices was done by private individuals, they regarded it as possibly a discouragement to keep them from selling. But when the government reports as a fine stroke of business that it has bought tens of millions of dollars of these; its own bonds, at a discount amounting to many millions, there is a wave of disgust.

And rightly so. No business man stands lower than the one who discounts his own paper. Any one who would place his notes with a lot of poor people on the plea of public service and then shave them, would have to follow the "soviet ark." Yet this is what our government has done under this administration. From those who have had the least, it has taken even that which they had.—Duluth News Tribune.

TAKES A SENSE OF HUMOR

If Herbert Hoover has the sense of humor credited him, he is having the time of his young life. He has been made the candidate of any old party and declared ready to accept anything offered him. He has been made the especial protégé of the New York World, age old, double-dyed, impregnable organ of the democratic party.

The World now has three pet projects—to make Hoover the candidate of the democrats, to seat five radicals in the New York legislature and to make the prohibition amendment a dead letter. It has seized upon Hoover as offering the only possible chance for the democrats to hang on to the offices. The only democrats, of the many interviewed by the World who prefer Hoover frankly admit this.

So it is that Mr. Hoover finds himself exploited as a possible candidate for president of a great party on the high ground that he may save that party from sure defeat and the offices for its "deserving" henchmen. It does not in the least matter to these democrats that Mr. Hoover is a republican, at least by personal preference.

There never was a more absurd situation in American politics. Even Horace Greeley's candidacy fades by comparison, and certainly it shows the raw side of human nature to an extent that Mr. Hoover can appreciate, while along with the quite unvarying praise given him, follows an equally unvarying sneer.

There is no other newspaper in the United States, not even those of Mr. Hearst, with so complete an absence of political conscience as the World. There is no man with a higher sense of responsibility to conscience than Mr. Hoover. It is a combination he must put in his joke book as he goes about his business, refusing to let the bee sting him or even annoy him.—Duluth News Tribune.

INDIANS BETTER FOR WORLD WAR

THOSE WHO TOOK PART IN THE CONFLICT WERE IMPROVED BY THEIR EXPERIENCE.

WHAT SUPERINTENDENTS SAY

Returning From Service, These Young Men Are Exerting a Great Influence for Civilization in Their Home Communities.

By JAMES F. HORNADAY.

Washington.—According to the Indian office, the world war was a splendid thing for the American Indians. The 10,000 that participated in the war and got home safely are now an influence for civilization among their fellows. Mixed indiscriminately with white troops, the Indians of necessity learned their language besides having equal opportunity with them for observation, for maturing judgment and developing courage through contact with events and conditions in defense of a just cause and a great ideal. Many reports received at the Indian office from superintendents are in line with the following:

"A number of fullblood Cherokees lately returned, none of whom could speak a word of English on entering the service, now talk English fluently."

"I do not know of a single case where the returned Indian has not benefited, mentally and physically, to a degree plainly noticeable and commented upon by the whites of his community."

"Five of these soldier boys returned recently from their work in France with a broader outlook on life and desire to do something creditable to themselves and their people."

"Those who have returned to the reservation show amazing progress in many ways—self-reliance, industry, personal habits, and proper respect for authority."

Non-Segregation Was Wise.

"The refusal of your office to permit the segregation of Indian troops was of the greatest benefit, resulting in most cases in but one Indian to a company of white soldiers and thus compelling them in every way to take up the life and manners of the white man. I safely say that our returned soldiers now constitute the best type of young Indian manhood."

"He has greater self-confidence. He realizes that there is a place for him in the community; that he is a unit in the great commonwealth."

The records of the war department show that the distinguished service record of the Indian was not below that of any other people engaged in the war. He bears his honors modestly, which prevents definite information regarding many cases of individual valor. From instances cited in a partial list it is doubtful if a more brilliant one stands to the credit of any soldier than the achievement of Private Joseph Oklahombi, a fullblood Choctaw, of Oklahoma, who received the croix de guerre under an order of Marshal Petain, which said:

"Under a violent barrage, dashed to the attack of enemy position, covering about 210 yards through barbed-wire entanglements. He rushed on machine-gun nests, capturing 171 prisoners. He stormed a strongly held position containing more than 50 machine guns and a number of trench mortars. Turned the captured guns on the enemy and held the position for four days in spite of a constant barrage of large projectiles and of gas shells. Crossed 'no man's land' many times to get information concerning the enemy and to assist his wounded comrades."

Better Schooling Is Provided.

Since the return of the Indian soldiers the members of the race are taking more interest in education than ever before. The government is now pushing actively the policy of reserving the Indian schools for children who are not provided with adequate free school facilities and to pay tuition for those who have access to public schools, but whose parents are wards of the government. Under this policy it was practicable within the last year to discontinue ten boarding schools and a number of day schools, which, the bureau says, will result in better schooling for the more needy, ample care for those who attended the boarding schools, and a more economical administration. Indian fairs and Indian exhibits at county and state fairs are adjunctively growing features of education. Fostered by certificates of merit and prizes, much is being learned industrially, and the "better baby show," now a prominent feature, is a distinct impetus to better health.

The commissioner of Indian affairs has for several years recognized the importance of separating competent Indians from the incompetent and their release from government control. The main agencies in the accomplishment of this end are the work of field competency commissions, and a consistent practice of the general policy of declaring competent all Indians of one-half or less Indian blood who are able-bodied, 21 years of age, and not mentally deficient. The result of these activities shows that, during the fiscal years 1917, 1918, and 1919, 10,856 Indians have been declared competent. There have been issued more fee simple patents to Indians under the new policy within a period of three years than during the preceding ten years.

American Who Resigned as Under Secretary of the League of Nations

Raymond B. Fosdick

Giving as his reason the continued lack of decision as to America's course in regard to the League of Nations Raymond Fosdick has resigned as under secretary-general of the league. He will return from Paris to the practice of law in New York City. In his letter of resignation to Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general, Mr. Fosdick said the inaction of the United States had placed him personally in a position of peculiar embarrassment and that he wished to be relieved of his duties to avoid any confusion or misunderstanding. He was appointed last May.

HIS UNHAPPY TIME

When Father Pays for Good Things He Has Had.

Shadows Upon Life Are Not Always Caused by Financial Affairs—Health Specialist Occasionally Gets Busy.

Speaking about the influence of money on human happiness, and the fact that the lasting pleasures of life are totally unassociated with money, father is a very good example of the latter premise, writes Glenn M. Farley in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Father's very special health specialist has forbidden him to smoke his pipe before midday, and the pleasure of life has completely vanished from all his forenoons. More than that, father has been a prodigious feeder all his life, with emphasis at the breakfast hour, and the s. h. s. has cut off the breakfast at one fell stroke, and permitted him to partake of milk only at that hour. Hence we have a sad, depressed, peevish person masquerading as father, until the stroke of high noon; then there are large eats and much scratching of matches and voluminous clouds of smoke. His mornings are h-l, and his afternoons are heaven, says father, and one can well believe him; these clouds and shadows upon life, one observes, have nothing to do with money. But doesn't it pass belief what a little thing can alter the whole color of man's life, and cast him from a condition of comparative pleasure into the slough of despond?

However, these little breaks in the regular habit of the individual seem to be hygienically necessary. A man may, of course, mistreat himself shamefully, and still continue to be up and around; but nobody cares to barely drag out an existence. Consider how many hales of tobacco father must have absorbed in perhaps forty years of uninterrupted pipe pulling! The health sharp comes along and tells him that he has enough surplus nicotine in his system to start a tobacco factory. And besides this there are about the same number of years given over to the indulgence of a farmhand's appetite without the farmhand's exercise. Father will put away a meal that would make a f. h. jealous, and then ride down town and sit in an office chair all day! He will stand this for 30 or 40 years and then complain that he is not feeling just right, and he wonders what is the matter with him?

When we come to consider father we recognize, at once, that he ought to have a guardian. There is where the very special health specialist comes in. He steps in and takes father's breakfast and his pipe away from him, and it is stand-off if he does not also take his lunch and his dinner away from him before his rigorous course is completed. And when all is done, father is either sleeping high, like a blind horse, and feeling his oats, or the boys around the office are chipping in to buy him a wreath. It is a long chance, but he has to take it. Having enjoyed his own fat-headed and entirely erroneous way for 40 years, it is high time somebody was stepping in and telling him what to do. The great mistake, with most human beings, is that their parents stop spanking them too early in life.

THE FLYER

By T. B. ALDERSON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

No one in the village could understand why pretty Althea Dorrance favored Gale Marston as a sweetheart, least of all her cross-grained, parsimonious, yet wealthy grandfather. He allowed her no visitors, and when he found that she was meeting Gale clandestinely at the rear garden gate, he surprised the romantic duo and gave Gale a severe dressing down.

"If I find you skulking about my premises again," declared the drastic old tyro, "I'll get out my shotgun! You'd better do something in the world before you think of getting married."

The taunt cut deep. To his own way of thinking, Gale averaged pretty well for a young man of twenty-two. He had worked up from entry clerk to bookkeeper, was receiving quite a liberal salary, lived respectably, dressed well and loved Althea, which was the crux of the situation. And Althea loved him in return—that was the joy that drove away the despair caused by the cruel and cheerless opposition of a crusty, mean-souled old man.

"Do something in the world, eh?" commended Gale with himself, as he saw Althea driven, rather than led, into the house by her tyrannical relative, in tears. "What does he mean? I'm headed right in a business way and they elected me president of the Merchants' club last week. They gave me a great sendoff in the papers, too. Maybe the old curmudgeon is thinking of Darcy Moore, who invented a new collar button and made a lot out of it. Or that favorite of his, Ben Junkin. I'll bet that's it! Junkin has become a professional aviator. Mr. Marston tried to interest Althea in Junkin, but she won't have it. Yes, he's hinting at what a superior fellow Junkin is. His stunts down at the aviation training field make the old man think he's won fame and is worthy of winning Althea! Well, it's given me an idea."

The young man's idea was soon put into execution. He decided to cater to the belief that to amount to anything in the world a fellow must become a hero, or a money success, attain notoriety and get to be looked upon as "somebody." The aviation field seemed sensational and popular. They were offering to teach aspirants the way to fly at the field, ten miles distant, with a view to training recruits for the army and postal service in the future. Gale got a leave of absence of two days and went down to Ardmore.

Ben Junkin was there, the king of the roost, so to speak. He was so filled with a sense of his own importance, that he feigned great interest in Dale's frankly expressed aspiration to become an "ace." He flattered the hopes of the novice and then took one of the expert aviators aside.

"See here, Jim," he said confidentially, "I want you to put that fellow through the paces. He's got the flying bug. Encourage him. Wear him out with the tests."

"All right," acceded the other. Gale Marston never forgot the day he put in with these practical jokers. They took him to a building where a tub-like contrivance wheeled him around on his feet at lightning speed. This he was told was done to test any tendency towards dizziness. Then he was swung aloft on one foot to discover any tendency towards a rush of blood to the head.

When Jim took him up in the air he gave the propellers a tip which sent the victim rolling to the bottom of the pit. Then he made a sharp dive with the machine, yelling out, "Ough! I've lost control!" He allowed the airship to strike the ground nose first, and Gale was sent whirling twenty feet across the field. By this time Gale began to suspect horseplay. He righted himself pluckily, sat on the ground, lit a cigarette and coolly remarked:

"Fine exercise, eh?"

He was bruised, he had been frightfully scared, he was through with aerobatics, but Gale displayed sheer pluck to the last, and limping from the field, decided that he would thereafter devote his energies distinctly to winning Althea exclusively. No more trucking to the prejudices or favoritism of the whimsical Josiah Dorrance! He got word to Althea and had a stolen interview with her.

A few evenings later Ben Junkin was chuckling over "the course of sprouts" they had put Gale through. He narrated its incidents to Mr. Dorrance.

"The fellow showed pluck and nerve. I will admit," he observed, "but he will never be a flyer."

"What's that, now?" exclaimed the old man, as the chugging of an automobile sounded in the lane behind the house.

He looked into the next room where he had left Althea quietly sewing a few minutes previous. She was not there. He dashed out through the garden. An auto was just speeding down the lane and he caught sight of two figures in its seat as it flashed around a lighted street corner. White and gasping, he dashed into the presence of Ben Junkin.

"You bragged that Gale Marston was no flyer!" he blurted out. "Well, he's stolen a march on me. He has fled fast enough with Althea!"

AMUSEMENTS

"Flo-Flo" Thursday, Feb. 5

"Flo-Flo" a typical laugh-making musical comedy which had a sensationally successful run at the Cort theatre, New York, for an entire season, will be brought by John Cort to the theatre here on next Thursday evening, Feb. 5th.

The Bride Shop operated by Mosher and Simpson, two exceptionally well drawn comedy characters, is the background for one of the most striking fashion parades ever seen on the stage of a New York theatre. The models worn by "Flo-Flo" the beautiful mannequin, and her assistants in the "perfect 36" chorus, are from the shops of the most exclusive modistes in New York and Paris. It would be difficult to say whether "Flo-Flo" owes its popularity more to its snappy lines and catchy lyrics, or to the lavishness with which John Cort has costumed his cast. The evening wraps worn in one number alone are said to have cost the producer thousands of dollars. Among the more popular of the numbers composed for "Flo-Flo" by Silvio Hein, are "Good Bye, Happy Days," "On the River Nile," "Would You Say No?" "Don't Trust Them," "Would You Love Me?" and the "Ziegfeld Girl."

Not Well—Not Sick

When the kidneys fail to cleanse the blood of impurities the whole system is affected. The result may be a half-sick condition—not well enough to work, not sick enough for bed—rheumatic pains, backache, lameness. Foley Kidney Pills heal and strengthen disordered kidneys and help them do their work. H. P. Dunn.

Really Something in a Name.

The Hebrew nomenclature is full of long and difficult names, but the most illustrious biblical characters, from Adam to Maccabees, have borne names that slip smoothly from the tongue. The same is true of Greek and Roman history, as is illustrated by Pericles, Alexander, Caesar, Cicero, Augustus; and in more modern history by Leo, Charles, Edward, William, Cromwell, Napoleon, etc. American history furnishes no exception. Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and all the presidents had true-sounding names.

Coughed Day and Night

John Vognue, Elberton, Ga., writes: "I coughed night and day and my throat was raw and sore. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and my condition began to improve and in a few days I was as well as ever. In my opinion Foley's is the best cough medicine made." Best for colds, croup, whooping cough. Children like it. H. P. Dunn.

Famous Statue of Liberty.

In 1886, on the 28th of October, the Statue of Liberty, presented by France to the United States and placed on Bedloe's island in New York harbor, was unveiled. The total height of the colossal statue is 306 feet. The pedestal rises 155 feet and the statue towers 151 feet above it.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musteroie

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musteroie on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musteroie is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of sweetgum. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musteroie for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—containing the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

Flying Circus at State Fair

Ruth Law, champion woman flyer of the world, was engaged by the Minnesota State Fair yesterday as one of its leading entertainment features. September 4 to 11. With Miss Law will come her flying circus of three machines and half a dozen flyers and mechanics.

Miss Law, who appeared before the board in person, explained her proposition, and afterwards wrote her own contract, will fly every day of the fair except Sunday, September 5, when no amusement program of any nature is to be put on. She will race with an auto two afternoons, and give an exhibition flight of looping and stunt-flying each afternoon and evening of the seven days. Miss Law is the holder of non-stop record from Chicago to New York, the woman's altitude record of 18,425 feet, and various other records.

With her will come Al Wilson, who will pass from plane to plane in mid-air each afternoon of fair week, except Sunday. Wilson uses no rope ladder, as did Locklear at the last fair, but actually changes by grasping the lower wing of the upper plane with his hands as it passes over him. The planes pass so closely to each other that they apparently lock wings.

Bowling Notes

Wednesday night the Boiler-makers beat the Carmen in a 3 game series by 221 pins. Sasser and Kylo doing the best work for the boiler-makers while Sheffield and Ziebell for the carmen also hit the pins.

Wednesday was Ladies Day with quite a few of the fair sex knocking the pins in all directions with 99 for high and 52 low. Not so bad for a starter.

The Moose are walking away in the Fraternal League but the Eagles hope to stop them when they meet.

Big Bill Sasser and Bert Kylo are the high average in the Fraternal League with Oscar Oelwein only one point behind the leaders.

FAVOR HOME PRINTING

(Communication)

The following resolution was adopted at the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Assembly Jan. 27, 1920:

Whereas, it has come to the notice of this assembly that the new telephone directories have been printed outside our city, and also that the typographical union label is conspicuous by its absence.

Be it resolved, that we, the representatives of the different labor organizations of this city, which embraces three-fourths of the total number of subscribers to the Northwest Telephone Co. in this city, condemn the action taken by the Telephone Co. and its local representative, and insist that in the future these contracts be awarded to our local concerns.

We are very much surprised to think that an organization like the Chamber of Commerce, has made no comment on the telephone company's action, which means a smaller instead of a larger Brainerd.

Signed,
P. T. BROWN,
M. I. KEARN,
R. G. JENKINS,

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt at all and costs only a few cents

Magie! Just drop a little Freezone on that tough corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift the corn off with the fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Naturally and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CONGRESS WANTS TO QUIT JUNE 1

STEERING COMMITTEE LEADERS SAY BOTH HOUSES MUST WORK FAST TO DO THIS.

MUCH LEGISLATION WAITING

Railway Regulation Measures Still Giving Much Concern—Senate Must Also Finish Up the National Budget and Military Bills.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—The leaders in congress are beginning to talk of an adjournment by June 1, so as to enable the senators and representatives to attend the national political conventions, but meantime good progress is not being made with pending legislation. Men who are influential on the steering committees of the two branches of the legislative body have passed the word down the line that if the memberships of the two houses desire an adjournment as early as June 1, they will have to get down to work and see that necessary legislation is disposed of promptly. Of course the six months' discussion of the treaty of peace with Germany in the senate is to a large extent responsible for the legislative congestion. Although this congress came together the third week in April last year, it was not until the first of January, this year, that the senate was in position to begin giving serious consideration to general legislation. Even at that late date deliberations were frequently interrupted by outbreaks on the treaty.

The house of representatives naturally feels that a good deal of its work since last April has counted for nothing. It has sent over to the senate a long list of bills that have not been touched by the upper branch of the legislative body.

Worried About Railroad Bills.
Just now the situation with respect to railroad legislation is giving the leaders in the two houses a good deal of concern. In brief the situation with respect to the legislation is this: In the message which he sent from Paris in April last year President Wilson said to congress that unless it had in the meantime made provision for the return of the railroads to the companies he would turn them back on January 1, 1920. Congress on the strength of that warning began to give some attention to railroad legislation, but it was late in the year before the subject was well in hand. Toward the end of the year, it will be recalled, the president, seeing that congress would not be ready with legislation for the regulation of the roads under private management by January 1, announced through proclamation that he would turn the roads back on March 1, 1920. That decision afforded congress two additional months in which to complete its legislation.

The senate passed what was known as the Cummins bill and the house the Esch bill. Taking the position that its bill offers constructive legislation while the house bill merely proposes corrective legislation, the senate is disinclined to yield on the main provision of its bill, and as long as this situation exists the legislation cannot be completed. In the meantime preparations for turning the roads back to their owners are going forward. The railroad administration, which built up a large organization here, is being dissolved, and it seems reasonably certain that the roads will go back on the date fixed by the president, regardless of whether or not any legislation affecting them shall have been enacted by that time.

Business Awaiting the Senate.

With the treaty of peace out of the way, the senate will dive into the accumulation of business before it. It will attempt first of all to dispose of legislation providing for the establishment of a national budget system. The house of representatives some time ago passed a bill providing for such a system. The senate bill, it has been decided, shall differ from the house bill in providing among other things that the budget office shall be under the secretary of the treasury; the house bill would place it under the control of the president. The senate committee is under instructions to report on budget legislation not later than April 1. Military legislation will also receive early consideration. It is now reasonably certain that the bill approved by the senate committee on military affairs which bears the name of its author, Senator Wadsworth of New York, will go through the senate. The house will likely have a bill of its own and in the end the duty of working out military legislation will devolve on a conference committee.

Both houses have finally passed a water power bill. This is not the first time this legislation has reached this stage. The house acted on this bill last July and the senate disposed of it only the other day after making a good many changes in it. In a general way the bill creates a federal power commission consisting of the secretaries of state, of war, interior and agriculture, and empowers it to grant water power rights, for periods not exceeding fifty years with reversion to the government, and to fix rates.

There are still some differences between the two houses with respect to the legislation, though the prospect for completed legislation on the subject is better than it has been for several years.

Wrestler, Who Seeks to Regain World's Title Tonight, as He Looked in A. E. F. Outfit

Earl Caddock

Earl Caddock was world's champion wrestler when he went to war. While in France he became a sergeant in the Headquarters Troop of the Eighty-eighth Division and was mixed up in the thick of several big engagements on the Alsace sector. His health became affected and he announced his retirement from the mat game, but months of roughing it in the mountains of Wyoming convinced him that he was himself again. In the meantime Joe Stecher had defeated all the other heavy-weight wrestlers and claimed Caddock's title. They meet in Madison Square Garden, New York City, on Jan. 30, to decide which really is the champion. This photograph shows Caddock while behind the lines on the Alsace sector.

Making Pets of Fish.

It is probably not generally known, but fish can be made pets of just as any domestic animal. They gradually begin to know the person who feeds them, and when he or she approaches the aquarium they will show every sign of pleasure and delight, wagging their tails as dogs do on the approach of their master. They will also respond to the call of their name and come to the top of the aquarium when summoned. They also show signs of jealousy, and their manner of life in the aquarium with their companions is an interesting source of study.

How to Blue Cold Steel.

Steel may be blued without heating. Polish the metal well and make sure that it is absolutely clean. Then immerse it in the following solution: Sulphate of copper, 40 grams; nitric acid 60 grams; 90 per cent alcohol, 150 cubic centimeters; water, 1,000 centimeters. Allow to dry thoroughly, then polish by rubbing briskly with a woolen cloth. Another way to blue steel is to heat it till cherry red and then quench in carbolic acid.

Fresh-Air Fiend.

Katie wanted very much to go outside the yard, which was inclosed with a wire fence and gate. By and by she ran into the house and said: "Oh, mother, if I cannot go outside, can't I just leave the gate open to let in a little fresh air?"

"Cakes and Beer, and Washing Here"

Before a ramshackle house in a little New England village there used to hang this sign:

"Hiram, the widow's son, I hope
"Can furnish customers with soap,
"Such as will make the washing day
"Pass off as pleasant, e'en as May.
"Cakes, and beer, and washing here."

Hiram had the right idea. He knew that there were people who wanted what he had to sell. The difference between Hiram and the modern advertiser is that the former had to trust to somebody passing to see his sign. He could not bring his sign to everybody.

The modern advertiser with something to sell that he feels you want, saves you the trouble of going to his place to see about it. Readers of advertisements visit all the advertisers at a single sitting.

This is a service that those who advertise are rendering you, just as the clerks they hire, the deliveries they make, are service. They are saving your time, energy and money by bringing their establishments to you through the advertisements.
